Be Kind

Online

Being a Lake of the Woods and Greenwood Campers means being part of a special community. We treat everyone with kindness and respect, even if we don't know them or are not their friend. This community looks out for one another and stands up for each other. This community is not just limited to camp each summer, we are a community & family all year-long, even when we log online. Be smart, safe and responsible online by following the rules below:

RULE 1 Never post or send anything on social media that you wouldn't want the whole world to see.
Nothing online is private. Nothing. People can take screenshots or photos of the screen. They can pass their phone around and show your message to others. They can simply talk about what you sent.

RULE 2 Never talk negatively about others in text messages or on social media.
If you wouldn't say it to their face, do not say it on social media or in a text message. Remember that once something is posted online, it cannot be taken back completely, even if you delete it.

RULE 3 If you are part of a conversation where someone breaks rule #2, leave the conversation.
Do not let yourself become guilty by association, even if you are not the one saying the negative things.

RULE 4 Never have an argument over text or social media—work out your differences in person.
It is much easier to be misunderstood online. Your words can be twisted and shared with others, causing a simple disagreement to blow up into something much bigger and involving more people. If you have an issue with someone, work it out face to face.

RULE 5 Don't post gatherings or get-togethers if you have left someone out!
You don't need to be best friends with everyone in your cabin, but if you are hosting a get-together where more than half of the cabin is invited, you should include everyone. If you are getting together with just a few camp friends, it is OK to post as long as you stop and ask yourself if anyone would be hurt that they were not invited.

RULE 6 Before you text something unkind or post something on social media, stop and ask yourself... Do you think it aligns with our camp values? If there is any doubt- don't do it!
